Today's Program

Cantiamo!

Under the direction of Cheryl Anderson, is one of the premier choral groups performing in Central California. This highly select ensemble performs music from the full repertoire of a cappella and accompanied works of the past six

Programs - Gary Reece

Invocation - Stoney Brook Detective - John Burroughs

Quote of the day: “Nice Package” Donna “ms klaus” Maurillo

Invocation: It’s Christmas in Santa Cruz, and there’s a party on the 1st floor of the Elks lodge. The revelry comes to a violent end when the partygoers are taken hostage by Chas “hans gruber” Eldridge. He plans to steal our attention with a story of how 100 years from now no one will care how awesome you are but today you can make a difference by purchasing a Christmas dinner for a family in need.

Raffle: A bearded old gent Bob “kris kringle” Ciapponi took over the raffle from a drunken fellow. He begins advising Rotarians on where to purchase winning raffle tickets. Many can’t believe that he is the true Santa Claus but he displays a beautiful metallic box that proves to everyone that he has magical elves working for him. In the end it was a joyous occasion for Annie “o’hara” Asche.

Announcements: Bob “bailey” Davidson the guiding force of Canyon View Capital in the small town of Santa Cruz, wishes he had never been born. So an angel visited him one night and showed him what Rotary would be like without him around. A nightmarish odyssey of men wearing drab shirts and boring suits. Meetings with no exciting stories of anyone flying private jets to exotic locations were presented to him.

Worse yet no one recognized Bob for the interesting character he is. Bob awakens to the fact that he truly does have a wonderful life and has begun an annual donation of $1000.00 to the Rotary Foundation.

Detective: Cristian “grinch” Gonzalez started his report with a small heart. He fined people and asked them to share a miserable tale describing their worst Christmas present. David “nightmare before christmas” Terrazas was named the MVP of a girls’ basketball team. Tom “rudolph” Castillo received a nose hair trimmer from his much shorter wife. Linda “tangerine” Burroughs says her husband is the best present. Tom “ralphie” Foster got a lump of coal and a new red ryder rifle. Erik “charlie brown” Dybdahl got a broom from his employer. Jim “frosty” Bargetto never got a Christmas present so he thinks the best gifts are free. Stoney “gremlin” Brook got a Porsche 911 and a colt .45 pistol. A police man pulled Stoney over and found him with all his guns and ammo in his vehicle. The officer asked Stoney

“what are you afraid of?” Stoney replied “nothing.” Sarah “bad santa” Madsen thought that a Golden State warrior Championship would make a great gift but unfortunately they are a nightmare on the court. Jill “elf” Stone was giddy when she received her Atari 2600 for Christmas. Jim “lethal weapon” Zenner got $20.00 and was told to buy a left handed sky hook and just like Cristian’s sense of humor we found out those don’t exist.

Program: It was red badge speech day and we were introduced to Joe “trading places” McNair and Steve “Home alone” Gray. Joe kicked off the festivities by telling us he appreciates a sense of humor because his life has been a joke. He began by showing us the interesting parts of his life. It was brief. When he was 12 his parents relocated to Santa Cruz and thanks to some fine detective work he was able to locate them and moved here too. He tells us he is an excellent roofer because he has a lot of experience falling off of them. He fell head over heels for his wife. His father advised him not to marry her because she is perfect and if he marries her he would only make her miserable. Sounds like Joe will fit right in. Next up was Steve. He started by showing us a photo album with 720 pictures to share. Steve hails from a long line of service men and women. He is a self-admitted chubby kid that enjoys fishing. He began playing baseball and basketball to get his mind off his high school’s terrible mascot, a purple cow. Despite this atrocious distraction, he led his baseball teams to two state championships. Today he still leads teams. Teams of healthcare professionals. He currently manages a 28 bed hospital and 19 medical office buildings. So you might ask him why a successful professional and leader would ever be caught driving a camper van.
