Today's Program

Jeri Ross

Children of Incarcerated Parents

Jeri Ross is a licensed Health Educator with a Masters in Public Health. She worked for Santa Cruz County for 17 years as a Public Health Division Chief. More recently, she started a Life Coaching practice offering stress management, empowered communication, and emotional health for her clients including those families affected by incarceration.

Back Nine Inaugural Meeting a Big Hit

We had an excellent turnout for the first Back Nine meeting last Friday. Everything went off without a hitch except for two items. The audio visual system was/is not ready for our use and we didn't have an invocator (detective on the job?).

The room was great with nice table cloths and napkins. The seats were comfortable and we could hear the speakers pretty well. The full sound system will come on-line soon. The food was excellent and it was really a happy time to be at Rotary.

Club Resignations

The Board of Directors received two letters of resignation and voted to act on them with regrets. The retiring members are John Biondi and Jim Bass. They both expressed their fondness for the club; however travel and new home locations keep them from us.

New Club Member Proposed

Membership Chair - Russ Hobbs has proposed Jill Stone for membership in our club. Jill visited us last week as a visiting Rotarian from Michigan.

January 22 Program on our International Project in Guatemala

Next Friday Jim Zenner and Jim Weisenstein and their Guatamala "Water Warriors" will present their program on our most recent International Service Project. From its formation to fundraising, inter-club cooperation and the execution of the plan, they'll show us all how the power of Rotarians can change people's lives.

Paul Harris Fellowship Awards

Our first meeting at the Back Nine included the presentation of five Paul Harris Fellowship awards. Peter Dean, Bob Bosso, Sharon Caiocca, Bob Davidson and Ross Condit all received their awards. It takes a giving spirit and persistent action to achieve the goals we set for ourselves in Rotary. Congratulations to all.

Attendance last week was 71, 1 short of full capacity and the largest number attending club for this Rotary year. Sid Slatter presided over the meeting, Tom Canfield served as Detective and Wally Dale won the raffle prize. He won a partial bottle of wine and lunch for one at Taco Bell!
