Peter Prindle is still EXEMPT.
Aleene Althouse is still Rotarian of the Month.

Fred Gawlick was the detective last week and we mostly remember that it isn't easy being Fred. He did enlighten us with some golf news. Keith McKenzie will continue to support the golf tournament, and Big Jim Weisenstein hit the longest drive at 309 yards. (I wonder if he did that trick of bouncing the little ball down the street.
Doubt it.) Being the electrical reporter, I was pleased to hear that Linda Burroughs is balancing her solar electrical production, installed by big hitter, Jim W, with a Tessla battery charging station.

Program: Nina Simon.

Our club loves interesting people delivering exciting programs, and Heather found another one. Nina was bristling with positive energy.
She began at MAH in 2011.
In three years, the museum has doubled its budget, and tripled visitors. Her theme is,
"what builds community?"
One of the answers to that question lies in the exterior space of the museum. Abbott Square, will be transformed into a space that will definitely draw the community.
Planned to have five mini restaurants and a bar, we know food and drink attracts more than ants. (just checking to make sure you are reading...)
She also wants to attract all of our community, young and old, and of all other differences, you can imagine.

We took a discussion break to decide what the biggest factors would be to bring us together, Food, history, art, connection, or play. A couple additional categories were added, parking and toilets.
Aren't we a fun crowd? Of course there is no correct answer, but she definitely has the right theme, as our local art and history museum executive director.
I believe she said she would be leaving to visit Barcelona, to teach them a thing or two about running a community.
Wow.
