TODAY'S PROGRAM

Jim Vanderzwaan KSBW Lead Forecaster will be drumming up the weather business. Jim began his broadcasting career in radio in Reno in 1974, then moved to Medford, Oregon, to host a morning drive radio and midday television show. Flight training in 1978 led to his interest in meteorology, so he made the switch to television weather in 1980. In 1983, Jim came to KSBW-TV. He is a member of the American Meteorology Society, the National Weather Association and holds the NWA Seal of Approval. Jim has received numerous "Best Weathercast" awards from the Radio and Television News Directors Association and the Associated Press. Jim has also been "the voice" of the California International Airshow, and also announces at the annual Watsonville Fly In and Airshow. Jim has spoken about the marvels of weather and forecasting to many civic groups and schools. During his free time, Jim enjoys traveling, photography, jazz music and plays drums with various local musicians at a variety of venues. He and his wife, Jeri, have been married more than 25 years and love living on the Central Coast.

Last Meeting

It was a grey kind of day and I am not talking about the hair color entering the building. Outside this grey mass was turning into rain, but since we needed the rain it was a good day. Inside there was a fairly large crowd waiting to be entertained, but today there was no background music. There were rumors that the musicians union wouldn’t let them play, something about not having a contract and not being paid union wages for their outstanding performamces. People checking in were reminded to sign up for the EVENT for at least the 20th time. Donna was residing over her empire taking over for President Frank Minuti who was sipping a mai tai, recovering from a long tax season somewhere in the Pacific. My tablemates Joel Miller with his Moses like staff (which suggested that like Moses he walked softly, but carried a big stick), Carol Lezin, Bob Bosso, John Huffman, Jim Kelly, Jack Richey were talking about the Rittenhouse building,

SC Downtown Management Corporation fees, NFL football, SC and GS Warriors, SJ Sharks and proper Roman attire. Since we had no music Donna led us in the singing of the Pledge of Allegiance. Then she presided over a moment of silence for the Dybdahl and Zenner families. Janet Gulch uplifted our mood with an inspiring tribute to Arbor Day. Then like a racehorse we plowed through the welcome song as each table raced faster and faster to a climatic ending. A card was sent around for the Dybdahl family for members to sign. Detective Gary Reece started with 83 happy dollars from Bill Lynch who was celebrating his 83rd birthday in style somewhere. Gary then took $5 from every Rotarian that attended that day. My hand started hurting from all the names I was writing down. I started with Althouse and quit after reaching Zenner.

Former child actor, Larry Wallerstein introduced our speaker, before turning over the microphone to Russ Hobbs who had more nice things to say about Brad Howard before asking us “to please stand and give a warm welcome to Brad Howard.” Brad immediately got on our good side by ribbing Donna with a question, “Is this your first meeting? This is the first meeting I have been to where I was asked to sing the pledge of allegiance. And where did you come up with ready, set, go as the commands for singing?” Brad paid tribute to many SC Rotarians who helped him in his Rotary path. Paul Sandis, Russ Hobbs, John Brokaw, Jim Zenner and ‘then on the other hand, Gary Reece,” who he met through Tom Foster. According to Brad, Tom now resides in the Philippines since his travel agency only gave him a one-way ticket. Then he finally got around to his topic concerning the Future of Rotary. “We are nearing the end of our campaign to eliminate Polio from the world. Worldwide we started with 350000 cases and now have less then 400. India is polio free. In another year polio should be eliminated, but 3 more years need to go by with no cases to produce a world free of polio. The Gates Foundation provided Rotary International with 243 million dollars to eliminate polio. So his question to us was, “what will bring you to the Rotary table with passion after Polio is eliminated?” Rotary has put together 6 areas to focus on for the future. Peace and conflict prevention/resolution, disease prevention and treatment, water and sanitation, maternal and child health, basic education and literary, economic and community development. Brad talked with passion, foresight and clarity until Donna told him it was time to stop. He left to a standing ovation, taking his I-pad with his notes back to his seat where he was smothered like Willy Wonka in Mackenzie chocolate.
