June 22nd Meeting Recap

Uh-Oh! We've been found out!

INVOCATION: Gary delivered a classic Reeceism that advised us to think of something that would give us a permanent place in history, something that would be chiseled into the stone of everyone's mind.

Then he further advised us to find a sofa and take a nap because, he said, "That's enough self-indulgent BS for one day."

CLUB DRAWING:

Winner Chris Murphy was so excited he had no idea what he won until President Annie told him he had to open the gift box containing Fourth of July celebration goodies and a gift certificate to the River Café, courtesy of Bob Davidson.

DETECTIVE REPORT: Blaine Brokaw badly delivered his usual disorganized report that featured a striptease show in which Blaine removed one garment after another and asked fellow Rotarians to say at which party he had worn the revealed garment.

When he was nearly naked Tom Foster was so upset he could not answer Blaine's simple question about the Summer Solstice.

CLUB SOCIAL AT ABBOT SQUARE BRINGS ROTARIANS TOGETHER

SPECIAL REPORT: President Annie thanked the many Rotarians who supported the Reign of Annie and named as Rotarian of the Year Peter Cook whose work made important improvements to our weekly programs and to our Rotaract Scholarship Program. A Special Award went to chocolatier Ian Mackenzie for supporting many aspects of club operations.

Lynn Renshaw

Santa Cruz Rent Control Ballot Proposition

Lynn Renshaw is chair of Santa Cruz Together, a group organized to improve the affordable housing situation in Santa Cruz but is now leading a campaign to defeat the proposed Santa Cruz Rent Control ballot measure because it will make the housing situation worse.

The ballot measure would create new laws that control rental policies of apartments and single-family housing built after 1995, including rolling back rental pricing to levels of October 2017. It also restricts the ability of rental property owners to control how their property is used.

The impact of the proposal is being felt now as rental property owners are putting their units on the market to get out of the business before the law becomes a reality. Construction of some new units is also being cancelled, and both activities are adding to the shortage of available rental properties and putting more pressure on prices.

The impact on rental property owners is wide. It removes their ability to limit the maximum occupancy of a unit and makes it nearly impossible to evict nuisance renters which could mean that perpetual occupation of problem tenants might damage home values in a neighborhood.

The proposed rent control board is not accountable to the City Council or Manager and its members would be able to establish their own salaries and the level of taxes and fees imposed on rental property to support the board and its inherent bureaucracy.

The controversial "just cause for eviction" section defines causes for eviction that do not include the end of a lease. In addition, if a tenant is evicted the owner must provide six times the current fair market recent as relocation assistance.

Santa Cruz Together is holding a series of educational meetings in anticipation of the November ballot.
