Taimen “mega-trout” are the largest members of the salmonid family and are found only in Mongolia and Russia. Sam will give us a snapshot of Mongolia and teach us more about fly fishing for unusual fish in places few of us have visited, much less fished. ## January 11th Meeting Recap

INVOCATION: Tom Castillo quoted financial guru Ray Dalio: “Thoughtful disagreement is not a battle; its goal is not to convince the other party that he or she is wrong, and you are right, but to find out what is true and what to do about it.”

CLUB DRAWING: Guest speaker Dwight Lowery won a nice bottle of red wine for his wife and a box of English toffees, courtesy of Janet Krassow.

DETECTIVE REPORT: Jill Stone asked January birthday celebrants how they would celebrate. Linda Burroughs said the Santa Cruz Symphony has scheduled a concert on her birthday while Janet Krassow and Casey Hinchman planned trips with spouses to Monterey and Paso Robles.

Jill asked other Rotarians who they would take to local events this weekend. Masi Bayless said she would take her dog to the Fungus Fair, Jim Bargetto said he would take Annie Asche to the Downtown Antique Fair, while Wally Walker offered that he would take Stoney Brooke to the Winemaker Wine Tasting.

Piano bar player Linda Burroughs donated the contents of her tip jar to the club.

Dwight Lowery Soquel High's NFL Star

When Santa Cruz native Dwight Lowery transferred to Soquel High School he was playing basketball, but after watching the football team practice he thought, “These folks could use my help.” Countered fellow Soquel High alum Tom Castillo, “Actually, we just plain stunk.”

That began Dwight's football career which has now come full circle. Today he is head football coach of the Soquel High Knights, and the journey between tenures at Soquel included many twists and turns that started with playing football at Cabrillo College, then transferring to San Jose State where he was an all-star for two years in a row.

Dwight was drafted into the NFL by the New York Jets. “New York was different,” he says, “and I was a young man working with grown men who really knew what they were doing.” His NFL career went on for 9 seasons, that included playing for several teams -- the Jaguars, Chargers, Falcons, and others. “I had 10 head coaches in those 9 seasons,” said Dwight, “which had its good, and its bad, points.”

After he was cut from the Chargers he had an opportunity to play for the Buffalo Bills. “After a lot of thought, I turned it down,” he said, “I just didn't want to be there.” Something about the weather, perhaps?

Dwight came back to his home turf in Santa Cruz where he talked with people about working with young people. He was asked to take on the head football coaching job at Soquel by the basketball coach there.

“It's not just about football,” says Dwight, “it's an opportunity to help these kids grow and create goals for themselves that they can work at.” The job gives Dwight a chance to teach the life lessons he learned as he grew in his career. “And besides,” he says, “I'm having a lot of fun with it because of camaraderie with great kids and staff there.”
