Today's Program

Breaking the Code

The Jewel Theatre Company hosts this week's off-site Rotary meeting. You'll learn about this dramatic play depicting Alan Turing's massive contribution to winning World War II and making your smart-phone work as well as it does.

Programs - Kris Munro

Invocation - Tom Honig

Detective - Peter Dean

March 15th Meeting Recap

INVOCATION: Ken Morse expressed extreme gratitude for our wonderful weather and all it brings. “Without it,” he said, “I could not enjoy as much about my life as I do.”

CLUB DRAWING: Blaine Brokaw won a lovely green wig, which he wore for the duration of the meeting, along with a bottle of Bailey’s Irish Whiskey, which he refused to share, and a generous gift certificate to Michael’s on Main where he’ll likely eat on St. Patrick’s day wearing the wig.

DETECTIVE REPORT: In the spirit of St. Patrick’s Day, Kris Munro asked for “Lucky Dollars” from fellow Rotarians. Donna Maurillo said she feels lucky that her mother (Sophia Loren) had not been caught for buying her way into UCSC; Blaine Brokaw felt lucky because Mike Allard’s mystery envelope from two weeks ago had included a car wash, just in time to get the bird dukey off his windshield. Tom Canfield felt lucky to be alive on his 50th birthday following his wastrel youth, and Ross Condit felt lucky to have been named president-elect and allowed to attend PETS. Stoney (and all of us) felt very lucky that he had left Tel Aviv moments before a rocket attack on the city.

Career Technical Education Santa Cruz City High Schools

Counsellor Sheri Williams and BioTech teacher Nehal Pfeiffer, along with Superintendent and Rotary host Kris Munro, talked about the extensive Career Technical Education (CTE) program that has a goal of graduating good citizens able to go right to work or get further education to pursue their career goals.

There are currently more than 1,700 students in the program. “It’s designed to change their trajectory and ensure their career future, while improving their academic performance” said Sheri.

Academic levels go up because the skills students learn make subjects like math and writing relevant and useful.

EndPolioNow

Pledge cards on tables at last week’s meeting generated almost $2,700. The Gates Foundation will match that 2:1, and the match is available until April.

So, keep on giving!

Currently 95% of students in the program graduate high school and 78% enroll in further education for their careers. Until 2015 the program was funded by the County Office of Education but now gets Measure O funds.

The list of programs offered in the CTE program includes Arts, Media, and Entertainment; Building and Construction Trades; Manufacturing and Product Development; Software and Systems Development; Auto Systems, Diagnosis, Service and Repair; Health, Science & Medical Technology; Culinary Arts; Criminal Justice; and many more.

Nehal noted that even the most advanced biotechnology companies need techs to run their labs.

Most programs have clubs that students attend in addition to classes, and many have advisory boards drawn from professional ranks. Some offer job shadowing where students can be with a professional and observe the work they do, and others are coordinated with technical education programs at Cabrillo College.

The curricula are designed to prepare students for college or career readiness. “Our goal is to produce the next generation of our work force,” said Sheri.
